Thanks Brenda. Welcome back. I was glad to see all our furloughed staff return as well today. It has been a long 2 weeks.

Subject: NPL Update

Just wanted to check in with everyone now that we are back to work!!! The October NPL update was previously scheduled for this week, but due to the furlough it has been postponed. It will likely be early next week before everything is rescheduled and HQ's provides us with a new target date. If I was going to hazard a guess I would anticipate early to mid November. We are anticipating both Jackpile Mine and Wilcox Oil to be final on the NPL, and Macmillan to be proposed. I will send out further updates as I receive them. Please give me a call if you have any questions.
